

Chronic Pain Self-Management Resources

This document provides a list of recommended chronic pain self-management resources that might be useful for primary care practices and their patients. Materials listed include three provider workbooks/manuals, along with resources your clinic might consider suggesting to patients. We provide a multitude of examples so you may identify the resources that are best for your practice.

Provider resources

Managing Chronic Pain: A Cognitive-Behavioral Therapy Approach Workbook, John Otis

This workbook helps providers walk a patient through 11 modules, each teaching a different skill for coping with chronic pain, such as stress management, sleep hygiene, relaxation therapy, and cognitive restructuring. It can be administered by the clinician or completed independently by the patient.

Patient resources

As people learn best through different mediums, we include videos, books, short handouts, apps, and programs on this list.

Short videos that explain chronic pain

Tame the Beast — It's Time to Rethink Persistent Pain, Lorimer Moseley

This 5 minute animation explains how pain works, how our nervous system can learn pain, and explains new approaches to help reduce an individual's pain. (5 min)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ikUzvSph7Z4&vl=en>

Best Advice for People Taking Opioid Medication, Mike Evans

This 11-minute video is great for both patients and clinicians. It explains what chronic pain is, what we know about the benefits and risks of opioid medications, and how to avoid the pitfalls that can be associated with opioid treatment. (11 min)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7Na2m7lx-hU>

Understanding Pain: What to Do About It in Less Than Five Minutes?

This easy to follow 5 minute video about chronic pain helps individuals understand what current research has been saying about chronic pain - that it's not a joint or muscle problem, rather a 're-wiring' of the brain's perception of itself. (5 min)
